Meet WANUEL, the Live Modular Acid Techno artist from Austria! From an early age of 11, he has been deeply passionate about electronic music and has performed at various clubs and festivals under different artist names as a DJ. However, he has now fully devoted himself to the live Modular Acid Tech House performance and mesmerizes his audience with an impressive range of synthesizers, grooveboxes, recorders, mixers, effects processors, and filters, creating a world of diverse sounds and rhythms.

His mobile setup includes a variety of renowned equipment such as Make Noise Maths, Noise Engineering Loquelic Iteritas Percido, and Mimetic Digitalis. He also incorporates Doepfer A100 modular system, Intellijel Steppy, Roland SE-02 Synthesizer, and Korg Volca Nubass into his arsenal.

In addition to these powerful instruments, WANUEL also employs a range of effects processors and filters to perfect his sound.

With the 1010music Blackbox and Bluebox in conjunction with a MIDI controller, the Launchcontrol XL, he is able to optimize his setup completely and create a unique live experience that is unforgettable.

Thanks to his unique equipment configuration, WANUEL can craft unforgettable soundscapes that captivate his audience. His passion for live performance and unparalleled technical skills are sure to leave you enthralled, making your event a truly memorable experience.

He creates a unique and experimental form of music that defies easy categorization. Combining several sub-genres and analog synthesizers, he generates a one-of-a-kind musical experience that appeals to all senses. He is especially fascinated by the sub-genre Modular Acid Techno, which has been gaining popularity in recent years.

When you attend his live performance, you'll be transported to a breathtaking soundscape created by synthesizers, samplers, filters, and effects processors. The variations in tempo, pitch, and filter sweeps create a diverse and enthralling atmosphere that will surely impress you.

If you're looking for a one-of-a-kind musical experience, you simply can't miss this Live Modular Acid Techno Tech House artist from Austria! Book him now for your next event and be enchanted by his unique music!