Discover the unique world of electronic music with a live Modular-Acid-Techno-TechHouse artist from Austria! Since the age of eleven, he has been passionate about electronic music and has made a name for himself as a DJ in clubs and festivals. However, he has now dedicated himself entirely to live Modular-Acid-Tech-House performances and takes his audience on a journey through a world full of diverse sounds and rhythms.

He creates a unique and experimental form of music that is difficult to categorize. By combining many (sub-)genres and using analog synthesizers, he creates an unparalleled musical experience that appeals to all senses. He is particularly fascinated by the subgenre of Modular Acid Techno, which has gained in popularity in recent years.

When you attend his live performance, you can expect a breathtaking soundscape created through the use of synthesizers, samplers, filters, and effects. The variations in tempo, pitch, and filter sweeps create a varied and captivating atmosphere that is sure to leave you spellbound.

If you are looking for a unique musical experience, you cannot miss this live Modular-Acid-Techno-TechHouse artist from Austria! Book him now for your next event and let yourself be enchanted by his exceptional music!
